Welcome

Dear Sharp Travellers

Winter may be upon us but that doesn't mean we should hibernate inside for the next three months. As our inflight magazine informs us, there is a vast array of activities, events and places that can be enjoyed at all Sharp Airlines destinations this winter.

In fact winter is the only time of the year you can see the Southern Right Whales visit The Discovery Coast in south-west Victoria. These magnificent mammals are a sight to see when they come close to shore, so why not make a trip to Portland to experience it for yourself?

Whether you are travelling to Tasmania, Victoria or South Australia, there is always plenty to see and do, and we'll be more than happy to fly you there. The flagship of our fleet is our Fairchild Metroliner, one of the most dependable and efficient aircraft in the world. Metroliners are comfortable and stylish, offering 19 seats and can be used for scheduled airline services or charter flights.

But Sharp Airlines is not just for holiday-makers, we provide plenty of services to business and industry. And with our strong history of seeking new opportunities, we welcome enquiries and discussion about how we can best assist your business to transport products and/or staff.

Happy and safe travelling,

Malcolm Sharp

PORTLAND

Winter Southern Right Whale Viewing Spots:

Lee Breakwater & Nuns Beach: It's not uncommon for Southern Right Whales to come within metres of the north side of the Lee Breakwater as they come in close to Nuns Beach. You can often stand right on the sand at Nuns Beach and watch the whales within 20 metres of shore. Standing up on the cliff-top affords brilliant views particularly under the lighthouse at Whalers Bluff and from the Ploughed Field. From the cliff you can often view Southern Right Whales resting in Portland Bay and watch as they enter Portland Harbour.

Register for free updates on all the whale action around Portland. You will receive an auto response to confirm your registration.

Dedicated Freight

Sharp Airlines carries all kinds of freight, from the smallest precision drill to the largest machinery parts (up to 1000 kg). Over the years we have been tasked with a variety of jobs to a variety of locations — from within our local neighbourhood to as far away as the tip of Cape York (Queensland). Whether it's big or small, your freight is important to us.

Some of our tasks so far have included:

- » Live Crayfish/Abalone for domestic and international markets (see below);
- » Machinery parts or equipment for the Agricultural, Mining, Shipping and Manufacturing industries;
- » Legal or Commercial Documents; and
- » Audio visual products including videos or DVDs.

Please call our office on 1300 55 66 94 if you require pricing for a Dedicated Freight Aircraft.

Live Fish/Shellfish Transport

Our aircraft can be equipped to carry live fish for the domestic or international market. We can carry most types of plastic fish bins and polystyrene containers up to a gross weight of 1000 kg (subject to weather and operational requirements). The larger bin size is preferred as it allows for more net fish weight to be carried. We use a dedicated freight liner/net which reduces exposure to direct sunlight, noise and vibration.

Sharp Airlines provides a same day freight service from Melbourne (Essendon), Hamilton and Portland in Victoria, and between Adelaide and Port Augusta. Our services are widely used by many businesses as no other freight company can match our same day pricing structure. Please refer to our timetables under the Airline Section for flight schedules.

DISCOVER NATURAL BEAUTY IN VICTORIA'S SOUTH-WEST

Nestled in Victoria's South West corner, the Glenelg Shire area is known as the Discovery Coast.

This region boasts a rich maritime history, and inspiring natural attractions. Towns include historic Portland, scenic Cape Nelson and Cape Bridgewater, the quaint village of Nelson and the rural towns of Casterton, Heywood and Dartmoor.

Rolling hills and rich agricultural land to the north give way to a scenic and secluded river region to the west, pine plantations line the roads through the hinterland, while a huge expanse of coastal beaches and cliffs form the southern perimeter.

Whether you're seeking a land, sea or river experience, or a combination of all three, The Discovery Coast is the place to visit!

Whale watching

The winter months are the perfect time to whale watch in the Portland area.

Southern Right Whales visit the waters around Portland Bay, Cape Bridgewater and Cape Nelson from May to October whilst migrating through the Southern Ocean. The whales often come close to the shore and even into the harbour, with the jetties in and around the port making ideal viewing locations.

Be kept up to date via email with whale sightings as they happen by subscribing at whalemail.com.au

The Great South West Walk

Explore the spectacular outdoors on the Great South West Walk, comprising of short two-hour loop walks, full day walks, or for the intrepid, the whole 250km loop, which begins and ends at the Portland Visitor Information Centre.

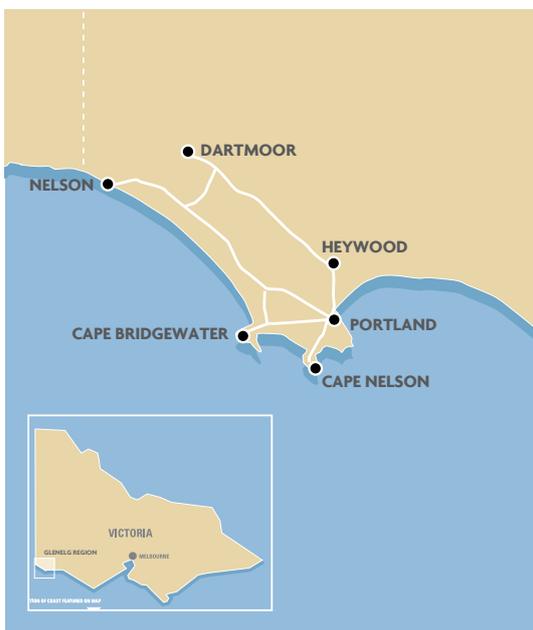

This unforgettable experience winds around three National Parks. Discover hardwood forests, the pristine Glenelg River and the picturesque township of Nelson. Explore the mighty Southern Ocean and vast sand dunes, sandy bays and beaches, and rugged cliffs. View Aboriginal heritage sites, freshwater lakes, the Cape Nelson Lighthouse and the stunning Bridgewater Bay. Be amongst a diverse environment of natural fauna and flora including whales, a mainland seal colony, Australia's only mainland Gannet rookery and lots more.

Portland

Discover Victoria's birthplace by the sea when you visit Portland. The picturesque harbour and working port provide a backdrop to a variety of accommodation options, places to dine, retail boutiques and things to do and see.

The town's historic past is to thank for the hundreds of beautiful old buildings scattered throughout Portland, many of which date back to the early 1800s. You can discover more about 50 of these buildings on a self-guided walking tour, and stop at History House to learn more about early European settlement in the area.

Explore the area's maritime history at the Portland Maritime Discovery Centre, where you can view numerous maritime artefacts and learn about the many ships that came to grief as a result of the unforgiving Southern Ocean. Inspect the historic Portland lifeboat, sit inside the ribcage of a giant Sperm Whale skeleton or come face to face with a Great White Shark replica.

You can also take a ride on the Portland Vintage Cable Tram, which offers a scenic view of the harbour, stopping on and off to visit Portland's tourist sites. These include the beautiful and historic Botanical Gardens and the WWII Memorial Lookout Tower, which you can climb for an unbeatable 360 degree view of Portland.

Cape Nelson

Just a short scenic drive from Portland is the 32 metre high Cape Nelson Lighthouse, dating back to the 1880s. Guided tours are available twice daily and there is a cosy cafe located on site.

The surrounding Cape Nelson Coastal Park encompasses coastal scrub, cliff tops and spectacular views out to the ocean. There are many walking tracks, including the sea cliff nature walk and the spectacular enchanted forest.

Nearby Yellow Rock is a popular surfing spot, and boardwalks and platforms on a staircase leading to the beach make this area accessible.

The Pedigree Working Dog Australian Kelpie Muster

8th and 9th June 2013 – the Queen's Birthday weekend in Casterton, Victoria.

Saturday - Family Fun Festival, no charge

Sunday - Clark Rubber Working Dog Auction.

VISIT OUR WEBSITE FOR DETAILS WWW.KELPIES-CASTERTON.ORG

Cape Bridgewater

Head 20km west of Portland to find the picturesque seaside town of Cape Bridgewater. The natural beauty is breathtaking all year round, with white sandy beaches and rugged windswept cliff-tops framing the town, giving way to freshwater lakes, limestone formations, caves, blowholes and mountainous sand dunes.

One of the largest colonies of Australian fur seals in South-West Victoria is located at Cape Bridgewater. Seal Point is home to over 700 seals and there is a tour available that will take you on a 45-minute boat trip alongside the rock platforms and into the mouth of the cave, where you can experience a unique interaction with the seals in their natural habitat. Alternatively, an energetic two-hour return walk will take you to a seal-viewing platform.

Nearby Bridgewater Lakes is an ideal place for canoeing, fishing, water skiing, picnics or to just relax. Limestone caves opposite the entrance are home to many bats and provide excellent views across Discovery Bay.

Heywood

Heywood has a bustling town centre and is situated alongside the Fitzroy River. The bridge built across the river in the 1840s is said to be Victoria's first.

To the east and north-east of Heywood is the Budj Bim National Heritage Landscape. The landscape is home to one of the world's oldest and most extensive freshwater aquaculture systems and human settlement sites. For thousands of years the Gunditjmarra people engineered and constructed channels, traps and ponds to traditionally farm eels and other fish, and lived in stone house sites.

The community-owned and operated Budj Bim Tours Company offer tours along the Budj Bim landscape including Lake Condah, Kurtonitj, Lake Gorrie and Tyrendarra. You can also take the self-guided walk at the Tyrendarra Indigenous Protected Area to learn about this world-renowned cultural landscape.

Casterton

In the region's north lies the township of Casterton - a special place in Australia's farming history.

Warrock Homestead, just north of Casterton, is the birthplace of the Kelpie working dog breed, with the first pup born in the early 1870s. In honour of this, the area is now known as "Kelpie Country".

The annual Casterton Kelpie Festival & Australian Kelpie Muster, on the June long weekend, celebrates this connection. The festival offers a variety of entertainment for all ages, including a street parade, working dog demonstrations and dog auction.

The natural features around Casterton have a strong geological focus. Baileys Rocks are a unique outcrop of giant green granite boulders. Also near Casterton are the Hummocks, said to be a 150 million year old geographical feature.

Dartmoor

Dartmoor is located on the banks and floodplain of the Glenelg River between Casterton and Nelson. Stop in town to see the Avenue of Honour wood sculptures.

Atlantic Cedars were initially planted in 1918 as a memorial to those from the district that served in the First World War, but as the trees grew older they were regarded as unsafe, so nine trees have been converted into detailed wood sculptures, serving as tributes to the defence forces. The collection also includes a nursery rhyme tree with over 20 fairy tale characters, and an assortment of carved animals.

Nelson

The tranquil village of Nelson is tucked into the mouth of the Glenelg River, just 5kms from the South Australian border. It is a haven for those interested in rivers and oceans, bird watching, canoeing, bush camping, bush walking, fishing or just relaxing.

Take a river cruise through the spectacular Glenelg River limestone gorge, with cliffs up to 50 metres high, or hire a canoe to traverse some or all of the 75 km of river, with 11 special canoe camps to stop at along the way.

Located nearby is the Princess Margaret Rose Cave, where you can tour the sensational display of ancient limestone formations.

SUPALOC TARGA ADELAIDE

The annual Supaloc Targa Adelaide returns to the South Australian events calendar this year from August 21-25 as the first of four rounds in the 2013-14 Australian Targa Championships. The five-day event, hosted by the City of Adelaide, features some of Adelaide's most picturesque and challenging tarmac roads.

The Australian Targa Championships provide a unique opportunity for drivers to race their sports cars and grand touring vehicles in the way they were designed to be driven. Supaloc Targa Adelaide is not designed as a competitive race; rather it is an opportunity to display a cavalcade of motorsports history and give owners a chance to drive their cars in a safe manner in front of thousands of spectators. The main goal of most competitors is to be awarded a Targa Trophy. A Targa Trophy is presented to the driver and co-driver or navigator of each crew who has completed every stage within the trophy time specified in the roadbooks for their vehicle class.

Drivers can enter in the different categories of Supaloc Targa Adelaide including 4WD Showroom, Early Classic, Early Modern, Late Classic, Modern, Regularity, Showroom, Showroom Sports, and Tour.

Each year thousands of spectators turn out to see the Supaloc Targa Adelaide, which features free designated spectator viewing areas from where you can see the action from the best viewpoints in a safe location.

Following on from Supaloc Targa Adelaide, the Australian Targa Championships will head to Victoria for the Targa High Country in November and to Hobart for the Targa Wrest Point in February 2014, before the series concludes in Tasmania with the Ultimate Tarmac Rally in April 2014.

The 2013 Supaloc Targa Adelaide course will be posted on the event's website at www.targa.com.au so be sure to check for more information.

ADELAIDE FASHION FESTIVAL

ADELAIDE FASHION FESTIVAL 2013
18-26 OCT

Bringing style and glamour to Adelaide each spring, the Adelaide Fashion Festival is nationally recognised by industry experts as South Australia's premier fashion showcase event.

Heading into its sixth glorious year, the Adelaide Fashion Festival has become a firm fixture on the South Australian events calendar. Every year the festival continues to grow and realise its vision of becoming an iconic fashion event to rival the other major Australian fashion festivals, held annually in sister cities of Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane and Perth. At the same time, the festival remains true to its primary goal of shining a spotlight on Adelaide and the dynamic and innovative South Australian fashion industry.

Hosted by the City of Norwood Payneham and St Peters and The Parade, Norwood, one of Adelaide's leading fashion shopping destinations, the Adelaide Fashion Festival 2013 promises to be bigger, bolder and shine brighter than ever before. The festival features an outstanding line-up of talent and events held over an exciting nine day program from October 18-26, 2013.

One of the key objectives of the Adelaide Fashion Festival is its Emerging Designers Program, which supports South Australia's young, up-and-coming designers by providing a platform to promote new talent. Each year, the Emerging Designers Award – presented as part of the SA Young Designers Showcase – sees a selection of young designers put together a collection and compete for the coveted title of Emerging Designer of the Year. Other South Australian designers will showcase their work as part of this event, revealing their new collections to South Australia's fashion conscious. The calibre of talent unveiled by the Emerging Designers Award in 2013 is something not to be missed.

For more spontaneous designers, the Designer Pressure Test, part of the Parades on Norwood Parade event, sees a group of enthusiastic creative talents go head-to-head in a competition of speed, creativity and skill, by putting together an outfit of their choice with limited tools (fabric, scissors and pins) in just two hours, under the watchful eye of the public.

Sixteen different events will take place with something for everyone, from op-shop stylist tours to a ticketed bridal event to free events in key fashion precincts across Adelaide, including Rundle Mall and The Parade, Norwood. In addition to high-end ticketed events such as the SA Young Designers Showcase, this year's festival program ensures that even the budget-conscious can be part of the fun! Visit www.adelaidefashionfestival.com.au for more information.

Langhorne Creek Cellar Treasures Weekend

Langhorne Creek, one of South Australia's oldest and most established wine regions, invites locals and visitors alike to discover the back vintages and museum wines of the region. The Langhorne Creek Cellar Treasures Weekend will take place on August 10 and 11, 2013 from 10am to 5pm at all seven of Langhorne Creek's cellar doors.

Wine lovers will have the opportunity to taste and purchase wines from extraordinary vintages and sample the region's delicious produce. Winemakers from each cellar door will be on hand to introduce their wines and answer any questions from the public. Langhorne Creek Cellar Treasures Weekend is not only an opportunity to enjoy some top drops, but a chance for visitors to learn more about the region's wine history and vintage wines.

Visitors will enjoy free entry to the seven local cellar doors: Angas Plains Wines, Bleasdale Wines, Bremerton Wines, Cleggett Wines, LakeBreeze Wines, Rusticana Wines and The Winehouse.

Langhorne Creek is found an hour south of Adelaide on the beautiful Fleurieu Peninsula. The region has expanded to boast almost 6000 hectares of vineyards, and is an important contributor to the Australian wine industry. Visitors heading to the Langhorne Creek Cellar Treasures Weekend are encouraged to take their time and make the most of local accommodation.

Langhorne Creek Cellar Treasures Weekend is just one event on the region's calendar designed to showcase the very best of the region's wine and produce. For wine lovers this is an opportunity not to be missed.

Visit www.langhornecreek.com for more information.

EXPLORE UNTOUCHED LAND WITH AIR ADVENTURE

Imagine having your own aeroplane, personal pilot and experienced guide to unlock the secrets of the Australian outback and beyond. Well, you can make this dream a reality by travelling with Hamilton's Air Adventure Australia.

Air Adventure has been operating outback Australia tours since 1977 and in doing so, is the longest operational air touring company in Australia. Air Adventure was established by the late Rod Dyer, who was a pioneer of the Australian outback, an avid pilot and a sheep farmer based in Hamilton. When Rod acquired the first lease on 1 million acre cattle station 'Ellenbrae' in the Kimberley, the land had never been touched.

After constructing an air strip on the property, Rod started to develop the country in order to introduce Brahman Cattle into the region and also began bringing groups of friends from Western Victoria, who had a thirst for adventure and the outback, to the area. In his countless trips, Rod achieved over 10,000 hours in a light aircraft and established Air Adventure Australia in the process.

In 2006, Rod's son John Dyer took the reins as Managing Director and began to develop new itineraries and introduce new destinations to the already extensive list. While new adventures have been introduced, the original mission to fly guests safely to the Australian outback, with the most authentic experiences in a friendly, small group environment still remains. Every tour encapsulates Air Adventures' passion for adventure and allows guests access right in to the heart of our country with the opportunity to meet the locals and be guided by experts at every destination.

Air Adventure offers a series of twelve tours covering the rugged outback landscapes of the Kimberley, Ningaloo Reef in Western Australia, the world-class wineries and wild flowers of Western Australia, the Red Centre, Cape York, The Gulf of Carpentaria and the beautiful wilderness of Tasmania. Air Adventure also now boasts African air safaris to its credentials, offering two tours; Namibia, Botswana and Zambia and Tanzania and Kenya.

All tours range from 3 to 16 days and each and every one is hosted by an experienced Tour Leader. Air Adventure is also committed to small groups and never takes more than 10 people on a tour, which means guests get the best, most personalised service and avoid getting lost in a crowd. This also means Air Adventure can access places where larger groups can't such as the Bush Camp at Faraway Bay, and a lavish eight cabin retreat perched on the cliffs of the Kimberley Coast overlooking the Timor Sea, 150km from their nearest neighbour with no road access.

For a number of years, Air Adventure has worked with local aviation company Sharp Airlines, racking up a significant number of flying hours together. In fact John Dyer also completed his pilot's licence with the company. In 2013, Air Adventure strengthened this relationship even further and has partnered with Sharp Airlines in the purchase and operation of their new plane the Outback Jet (Cessna Conquest II).

This new addition means Air Adventure can now offer an even better, faster, more comfortable way to see remote Australia. This immaculate, twin prop-jet aircraft almost halves the amount of time spent in the air – from Melbourne it's just 90 minutes to Kangaroo Island which means even more time exploring each destination. It is leagues ahead of the competition when it comes to landing on remote outback airstrips – and will easily land where others in larger aircraft wished they could. Each leather seat is the 'window seat' and passengers enjoy the vista without the tyranny of distance by land.

With a brand new interior, the onboard comfort is exceptional with leather reclining seats, powerful air conditioning, and it's equipped with a PA system for in-flight commentary. The Outback Jet's technology is also first rate with state of the art Garmin avionics and an iPad on board for live flight progress data and destination information. It is also crewed by a Commercially Licensed Captain.

With twelve itineraries covering all remote regions of Australia, plus two that get you right into the heart of Africa's wilderness, there is sure to be a tour to whet your appetite for adventure.

Discover Bass Strait

At the western entrance to Bass Strait lies King Island, a precious treasure oozing rich history, natural beauty and a pristine coastline. Ship wrecks, lighthouses and jagged reefs contrast with King Island's long sandy white beaches, lush green pastures and spectacular rocky cliffs. King Island produces some of Australia's finest natural foods, most notably dairy and beef produce, but there is much more to this little piece of paradise than first meets the eye. Take the time to explore the 64-km long by 27km wide island, and experience for yourself the "King Island way of life".

Experience King Island

View and purchase arts, craft and handmade products at the King Island Cultural Centre, Port Side Gallery and Red Hut Complexions; Explore and tour beaches and lagoons; Fish for sweep, salmon, gummy and school shark; Dive among 100 known shipwrecks, rock lobsters and abalone (licences required); Catch a wave at five of the surf beaches; Play golf, go sailing and hunting; Or ride horses, go bird-watching and penguin sight-seeing. Whatever your interests, King Island has so much to offer!
